FAMILY PROFILE

We are honoring the memory of our late family members by providing financial assistance to those students who possess the values that they treasured the most – a love of education, high integrity and moral character, a passion for hard work, strong family values, and generosity.

- Bing Sam and Chow Lee – Our parents were born and raised in a small farming village in Hoi Ping, near what was then known as Canton, China. Fueled by their dreams of realizing opportunities in America, referred by the Chinese as “Gam San”, or the “gold mountain”, they immigrated virtually penniless to this country in September 1938. Settling in Globe, AZ and later moving to Scottsdale, AZ, they were “strangers in a strange land” but nevertheless instilled their values to our family as they worked hard to realize the opportunities that America provided them. Although life was oftentimes harsh and demanding, they slowly began to prosper in this land of opportunity.

Years later, their dreams are being realized through four children, nine grandchildren, and eleven great-grandchildren. Our extended family has earned multiple undergraduate and graduate degrees with careers in medicine, law, ministry, business, academia, etc. We have collectively prospered far beyond what our parents could ever have imagined or dreamed long ago in small rice paddy fields in China. And we, their offspring, owe whatever success we have enjoyed to a poor, semi-illiterate Chinese couple who had a dream many years ago and had the courage to fulfill it.

- Paul K.B. Lee – Our brother, who majored in elementary education at Arizona State University, suffered from a congenital heart condition and passed away prematurely at the age of 29. He had a drive for working with young students to help them achieve their objectives, a love of being with people, and a passion for music. He embodied the values that our parents instilled into our family.

In keeping with our parents’ dream and values, and on behalf of the extended B.S. Lee family, we, the surviving children of Bing Sam and Chow Lee, and the siblings of Paul K.B. Lee, endow this scholarship for the purpose of memorializing their lives and of perpetuating the values they held so dear.
