Thank you for your interest in participating in the Pre-law internship program offered by the Arizona State University, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (CLAS) and Ezequiel Hernandez PLLC (Hernandez Global). The goal of this program is to help students explore the field of immigration law while preparing them for law school.

Hernandez Global was formed with the specific goal of re-engineering and innovating the way immigration services are delivered to individuals and corporate clients. We focus exclusively on U.S. and GLOBAL immigration law and our extensive experience in these areas allows us to provide cutting-edge services and to effectively represent our clients. Our attorneys have held leadership positions at some of the largest U.S. law firms and have also worked in-house counsel for major corporations. We have been consistently involved in developing GLOBAL immigration strategies, managing all aspects of the immigration process and liaising with government agencies worldwide. Our attorneys have been on the “Vendor” side of the immigration process and leverage their diverse experience for the benefit of our clients. We carefully listen to our clients to understand their needs before developing the appropriate immigration strategy.

As an intern you will gain first-hand experience working in all aspects of this fast-paced environment. Interns will research and write reports, organize data and processes, and assist in the preparation of actual cases. Because we are a small law firm, interns will have the opportunity to work closely with the Attorneys to maximize their potential as pre-law students.

Located in downtown Phoenix, Hernandez Global is at the epic center and forefront of many immigration issues. Because of the location and clientele, interns will need to be proficient in Spanish and feel comfortable communicating in the language. As a majority of the clients are native Spanish speakers, past experiences have shown us that interns without Spanish language skill are at a serious disadvantage.

Interns must also be available to work a minimum of 2 full work days or roughly 16 hours a week. In conjunction with the CLAS, interns also have the opportunity to receive college credit for summer and fall semesters at ASU. The Summer internship (approximately 175 hours) will run from May 23, 2011 to August 5, 2011 with interns working anywhere from the minimum of 16 to 40 hours a week depending on the intern’s availability and course credit opportunities. The fall internship (approximately 250 hours) will run from August 15, 2011 to December 2, 2011 with interns working the minimum of 16 hours a week. While you do not have to receive credit for the internship, it is strongly encouraged as the internship is un-paid.

Applications are currently being accepted for Summer and Fall 2011 internships. Please send resumes and cover letters that explain why you are interested in an internship with Hernandez Global addressed to: Ezequiel Hernandez at info@hernandezglobal.com
